

Overbrook High School Guidance Curriculum Grades 9-12

Overbrook High School Guidance Department Mission Statement

To assist all students in the process of personal, academic and career development so that they may reach their full potential as productive citizens in a changing society.

Board Approval Date: August 28, 2012

INTRODUCTION AND OVERVIEW

Students today are faced with many complex personal/interpersonal, educational, and career issues. Comprehensive school counseling programs are collaborative efforts that can produce many benefits for students, schools, families, and communities, and these programs should be an integral part of the students' daily educational environment. School counselors should be partners in student achievement.

Overbrook High School's School Counseling Program is structured to fulfill the personal, academic and career development needs of all students in our district. It is intended to enhance and promote the learning process within our schools and beyond.

As suggested by both the American School Counselor Association and the New Jersey School Counseling Initiative. Overbrook School District's comprehensive developmental school counseling program provides:

- A written, systematic, and planned delivery program that involves all students and promotes and enhances the learning process.
- Accountability in the delivery of services to all students
- A framework for a team effort involving parents, teachers, counselors, students, administrators, and other support personnel.
- Provides the means for all students to meet the challenges of the 21st century in all areas of academic, career, and personal/social development.

Furthermore, as a developmental program, Overbrook's School Counseling program uses a sequential systematic delivery service.

Overbrook's School Counseling Program:

- ✚ Involves all students.
- ✚ Is based on a sequential and planned curriculum
- ✚ Is integrated as part of the total educational program
- ✚ Helps students function academically and learn more efficiently
- ✚ Prepares students to handle and cope with life's transitions
- ✚ Addresses all issues in an open and sensitive manner

VISION STATEMENT

Overbrook High School's School Counseling program for grades 9-12 will address the academic, career, and personal/social needs of the students we serve. The program is intended to provide all students with the skills needed for their ever-changing roles in society and the workplace. They will work on developing self-esteem and the ability to respect and get along with others. Students will take responsibility to use these skills and information and relate them to the development of their plan for life.

DELIVERY SYSTEM

The primary delivery system describes the activities, interactions, and methods used to deliver the program.

Individual Counseling

Individual counseling generally addresses the specific concerns of a targeted student with a specific need.

Counselors frequently initiate individual counseling sessions with students to address specific problems or specific topics of interest. These sessions are also designed to assist students individually in establishing personal goals and developing future plans. A one-on-one meeting with a counselor provides a student maximum privacy in which to explore ideas, feeling, and behaviors. School counselors work to establish a trusting relationship, always considering actions in terms of the rights, integrity, and welfare of students.

Counselors are obligated by law and ethical standards to report and refer a case when a person's welfare is in jeopardy. It is the counselor's duty to inform an individual of the conditions and limitations of confidentiality and how it may impact the type of assistance provided.

Small Group Counseling

In small group counseling, a counselor works with two or more students together. Group discussions are generally based on structured learning experiences, and group members have an opportunity to learn from each other. Members can share ideas, give and receive feedback, increase their awareness, gain new knowledge, practice and refine skills, and think about their goals and actions.

Group discussions can be problem centered, where attention is given to particular concerns. Discussions may also be growth centered, where general topics are related to personal and academic development.

Consultation

The counselor as a consultant primarily helps students, parents, and teachers to be more effective in working with others. Consultation helps students, parents, and teachers think through problems and concerns, acquire additional knowledge, and become more objective.

Coordination / Referral

School counselors serve as a liaison among teachers, parents, support personnel, and community resources to facilitate successful student development. As student advocates, counselors often refer students to appropriate resources.

Case Management

Counselors provide the necessary monitoring of an individual student's progress toward achieving success in academic, career, and personal/social areas.

Guidance Curriculum

The guidance and school counseling curriculum is composed of organized objectives and activities to provide information, knowledge, and skills developmentally and sequentially in the areas of academic, career, and personal/social development. Counselors often deliver the curriculum in large group settings, such as classroom presentations; however, frequently large group meetings are followed up with a small group or individual session where students can discuss the material presented in more detail.

Program Evaluation

Counselors continually assess the needs of their students, evaluate their programs, and make alterations when necessary to better meet the needs of their students.

SCHOOL COUNSELING PROGRAM OBJECTIVES (GRADES 9-12)

- ✓ Provide academic counseling based on student performance, standardized tests, and career plans
- ✓ Assist student in taking appropriate action toward positive growth by setting short and long term goals.
- ✓ Foster an understanding of the issues related to personal development and encourage students to accept responsibility for their own learning.
- ✓ Assist students in developing time management and study skills.
- ✓ Help students design, select, and apply appropriate solutions in academic, personal/social, and career situations and then help them evaluate the effectiveness of the various solutions.
- ✓ Aid students in the selection of a career major and appropriate accompanying courses
- ✓ Assist students in identifying and accessing resources and other sources of information, both print and web-based, to obtain information and enable them to meet their specific needs.

- ✓ Coordinate and facilitate communication among students, parents, faculty, and administration to help clarify problems and arrive at potential solutions
- ✓ Assist students in the application, scholarship, and financial process for further education.
- ✓ Help students demonstrate positive work behaviors and employability skills.
- ✓ Provide awareness and understanding of diversity issues for students and staff
- ✓ Work with and refer students to other school and community professionals and agencies or special services.
- ✓ Promote student awareness of behaviors which will insure their personal well-being
- ✓ Adhere to the National Standards for School Counseling Programs and Ethical Standards as set forth by the American School Counselor Association.
- ✓ Participate in ongoing professional development through district workshops, county in-services, and outside professional workshops.

NATIONAL STANDARDS FOR SCHOOL COUNSELING PROGRAMS

The National Standards for School Counseling Programs, based on 50 years of research, theory, and practice, represents the American School Counselor Association’s vision and commitment to assure that school counseling programs “assist students to achieve educational expectations and meet the challenges of the 21st century.” The standards are a public document stating what “all students should know, understand and be able to do to enhance their development” as a result of being part of a school counseling program.

Throughout the year as new students enroll, counselors will provide transfer students with an orientation program. This program will consist of the following mini-activities:

- ❖ Counselors will review with the student his/her academic records.
- ❖ Counselors will properly place students in courses which are reflective of the student's abilities, interests and post secondary school goals.
- ❖ Counselors will provide students with a Overbrook school calendar, a "Welcome to Overbrook High School" packet and a Overbrook Handbook." Counselors will also ensure students receive a locker, and a homeroom.
- ❖ Counselors or student guidance aides will provide students with a tour of the guidance and special services area and a tour of the building focusing on the student's classes and their location.

(Competencies: II.A, V.A)

4. Parent/Guardian Communication Program

In an attempt to keep parents/guardians informed, the guidance department will implement the following:

- ❖ Guidance newsletter.
- ❖ Newsletter may be sent home with report cards.
- ❖ At-risk marking period failure letters are sent home to parents of students who failed one or more courses.
- ❖ The goal of the letter is to encourage parents/guardians, students, teachers and counselors to work together to help the students meet with success.
- ❖ Summer school information will be sent home to students who should take advantage of summer school opportunities.
- ❖ Flyers with timely information will be sent home as necessary.
- ❖ Periodic mailings providing pertinent information

(Competencies: I.B, I.A, II.A, IV.A, V.A, VI.A)

5. Understanding and Using Your PSAT Results (grades 9-12)

Students will be encouraged to sign up for the PSAT test given in October through homeroom announcements, classroom presentations, flyers delivered through English classes, back to school mailing and word of mouth. In December upon receiving the test results, the guidance department will deliver a special presentation to review and assist students in interpreting and analyzing their test results. The presentation will also focus on using the PSAT results as a tool to help students improve their SAT scores.
(Competencies: I.B, I.A, II.A, IV.A, V.A, VI.A, VIII.A)

6. Peer Mediation Program

Counselors will encourage students to use the Peer Mediation Program to resolve conflicts peacefully.
(Competencies: I.A, IV.A, VII.A, VII.B, VIII.A, IX.A)
